

ABA JOURNAL

VOL. 101, NO. 4

APRIL 2015

ACCESS AT HAND

Smartphone apps are putting justice into the hands of those who may need it most, including the accused, the indigent and immigrants.

54

FEATURES

34 | 100 Innovations in the Law

Technological, intellectual and practical innovations that have changed the way law is practiced.

By Jason Krause

46 | Reclaiming Sovereignty

Indian tribes are retaking jurisdiction over domestic violence on their own land.

By Lorelei Laird

54 | Justice in Your Palm

Twenty apps that provide easier access to legal help.

By Joe Dysart

6 Letters

8 President's Message

ABA Day provides a chance for bar leaders to lobby policymakers on critical legal issues.

9 Opening Statements

Lawsuits mount as Cubs fans denied a view cry foul over renovation plans for Wrigley Field.

10 Golden State attorney puts a gag gift to good use on YouTube, draws coverage, clients—and a few critics.

11 10 questions for the D.C. lawyer who coordinated an extensive pro bono effort on behalf of Holocaust victims.

12 Wearable devices offer a treasure trove of information for evidence in the courtroom.

13 Short takes and fast facts on the law.

14 Cartoon of the month: Check out last month's contest winner and try crafting a caption for the current cartoon.

15 Docket

NATIONAL PULSE Kentucky tests new assessment tool to determine whether to keep defendants behind bars.

17 NATIONAL PULSE State copyright law gives musicians performance rights, puts broadcasters on notice.

19 SUPREME COURT REPORT High court to review cases addressing same-sex marriage from four states.

22 Practice

ETHICS Cyber liability insurance is an increasingly popular and almost necessary choice for law firms.

24 WORDS Legalistic labels: Are they a bad habit or a sometimes necessary approach?

60 Your ABA/Midyear Meeting Report

The ABA House takes on domestic violence, executions.

61 'Stand your ground' laws draw opposition.

62 Leadership slate displays diversity in action.

63 Pact aims to bolster the rule of law in Sri Lanka.

64 Panel debates how to weigh threatening online posts.

65 Experts explore the line between spanking and abuse.

66 A human rights storm could hit the extractives sector.

67 Members' involvement is key when lobbying legislators.

71 Obiter Dicta

Wine collectors broke laws, paid price; will bottles be 'decanted' down the drain?

72 Precedents

Nazi war criminal Adolf Eichmann goes on trial in Israel.

AN ABLE 3L
Aamir Rahman is helping draft an international code of conduct to prevent technology misuse.

27

27 Business of Law

INCUBATORS Brooklyn Law School prof helps Europe's startup community with a network of law school clinics.

29 LAW SCRIBBLER When law firms offer free services, it generates business too.

30 TECHSHOW Keynote speaker warns of the threat posed by automation—without human input.

31 LAW BY THE NUMBERS 2014 turned out to be a lucrative year for law firms.

32 LEGAL SERVICES Offender monitoring comes to your local smartphone.

33 KENNEDY ON TECH Making legal services a product can make sense.