

ABA

THE ABA

The American Bar Association (ABA) is a national organization of lawyers and law students. It is the largest and most influential of the legal profession's voluntary organizations. The ABA's primary purpose is to advance the public interest through the improvement of the legal system and the promotion of the highest quality of legal education and the legal profession.

The ABA is composed of 210 local bar associations, 10 state bar associations, and 10 national bar associations. The ABA's membership is open to all lawyers and law students who are admitted to the bar in any state or territory of the United States, or who are admitted to the bar in any foreign country.

THE ABA'S

The ABA's primary purpose is to advance the public interest through the improvement of the legal system and the promotion of the highest quality of legal education and the legal profession. The ABA's primary purpose is to advance the public interest through the improvement of the legal system and the promotion of the highest quality of legal education and the legal profession.

The ABA's primary purpose is to advance the public interest through the improvement of the legal system and the promotion of the highest quality of legal education and the legal profession. The ABA's primary purpose is to advance the public interest through the improvement of the legal system and the promotion of the highest quality of legal education and the legal profession.